

MIRROR IMAGE

A full length mirror is a great way to add depth in an entry space. In this project, the tall thin mirror is bisected by a dark stained walnut key shelf. This simple composition is completed by a single vertical wood strip that edges the mirror to the right. To learn more about this project, visit www.housebrand.ca

Essential Kitchen + Bathroom Design JUNE 18, 11:00am - 1:00pm

The success of any house depends on the quality of its underlying design. When the design fundamentals are wrong, even houses that look good on the surface will be difficult to live in and have too high an environmental footprint. Spend a Saturday afternoon with Slow Home founders John Brown and Matthew North and learn about good residential design.

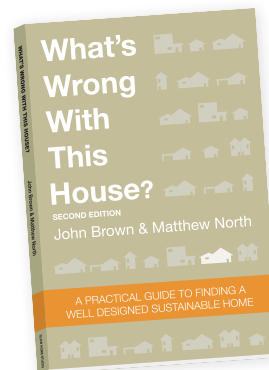

A successful kitchen has a compact work triangle and plenty of storage. Learn the critical components of kitchen layout and design and how to avoid the common pitfalls when renovating or building new.

Bathrooms need to be efficiently organized and highly functional. Learn how bathroom plans should be laid out and how to tell the difference between a well designed bathroom and one that is just for show.

$50/person includes course materials and a copy of the second edition of the "What's Wrong With This House?" book. Space is limited and reservations are required. Call 403.229.4330 for reservations.

What's Wrong With This House? Second Edition

Now Available

What's Wrong With This House? offers practical, down-to-earth design advice that focuses on the substance of the way a house works rather than on its superficial appearance. Using example projects from their many years of architectural practice, John Brown and Matthew North show you how to evaluate the design quality of your home and make it simple to live in and light on the environment.

Available online at www.slowhomestudio.com or at the housebrand Design Store.
