Learn the principles of good residential design and start making smarter, more sustainable choices about your home. We think that design education, like learning how to cook, is something that's best accomplished through hands-on practice. That's why we've adapted the cooking school model of education to create a unique design teaching studio that combines the latest digital technologies with good old hand-drawn design activities. Join us for a Saturday morning of residential design. No experience is necessary, just a desire to learn about good design. We'll take care of the rest.

Kitchen Design Workshop

The kitchen is at the heart of every home. Learn how to design a kitchen according to the Slow Home design philosophy in this three hour hands-on workshop. By completing a series of design activities you will learn how best to organize the cabinetry, storage, work surfaces, and appliances in any new or renovated kitchen.

Saturday Jan 14, 2012; 9:30am - 12:30pm - $125

Green Design Workshop

Environmentally sustainable design is no longer an optional extra for your home. Every house needs to become lighter on the environment. In this three hour hands-on workshop you will learn how to apply Slow Home's easy-to-apply green design strategies for reducing water and energy consumption without sacrificing the livability of your home.

Saturday Jan 21, 2011; 9:30am - 12:30pm - $125

Bathroom Design Workshop

Bathrooms are the most intimate spaces in a home. They are also the most costly rooms to renovate and the hardest to get right. In this three hour hands-on workshop you will learn how to apply the Slow Home philosophy to properly design the lay-out and finishes for any master en-suite, family or guest bathroom in the house.

Saturday Jan 28, 2011; 9:30am - 12:30pm - $125

Furniture Layout Workshop

Good furniture placement is one of the simplest and least costly ways to improve the livability of your home. A good furniture lay-out can make even a badly designed space function more effectively. Learn how to properly furnish any living or dining space according to the Slow Home design philosophy in this three hour hands-on workshop.

Saturday Feb 4, 2011; 9:30am - 12:30pm - $125
